MORROW DECIDES TO GIVE UP FIGHT

Issues Statement To People Of Kentucky.

HE WON'T CONTEST ELECTION

Believes That Only Good Will Come Out Of Recent Campaign.

SAYS THE RESULT IS FINAL

Edwin P. Morrow, opponent of Governor-elect A. O. Stanley in the recent campaign, has issued a formal statement to the people of Kentucky conceding his defeat and disclaiming any intention of instituting a contest before the Legislature. He went to his home at Somerset immediately thereafter.

Mr. Morrow thanks those who supported him and expresses the belief that only good will come out of the campaign. He predicts the Democrats within the next year will enact an anti-lobby law, a corrupt practices act and a scientific and equitable tax law.

Text Of Statement.

To the People of Kentucky: After eight days of doubt the closest election the State ever knew is at an end. The official count now discloses Mr. Stanley's election by a small plurality, and however or by what methods obtained, I will accept it as final.

To plunge the State into a contest before the Legislature would retard its progress, stop its development and create strife and bitterness. The welfare of Kentucky, its people and its material prosperity is above the ambition of any man or the success of any party. Although defeated, I feel that out of my campaign has and will come, only good for my State. I believe I have awakened the conscience of Kentucky to extravagance and inefficiency in the conduct of the public business, to the desperate condition of the public treasury and, above all, to the truth that broken promises to the people bring only evil consequences.

The next year will see enacted an anti-lobby law to destroy the "Shack That Graft Built," a corrupt practices act to protect the ballot and the public office, and a scientific and equitable tax law. And in all the departments of State there will be an awakening and a guard placed over the expenditure of the people's money. Believing I will have been instrumental in procuring these results, I feel that I have not labored in vain.

I thank the people of Kentucky without regard to party for their personal kindness to me throughout the campaign and for their confidence in me as expressed at the polls. To those who fought and labored for me I attempt to give no word of praise—my gratitude is above words. With all my power I will continue the battle for the good of Kentucky and the welfare of her people.

WILL MARK HOUSE WHERE LINCOLN WAS MARRIED

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 12.—W. E. D. Stokes, New York multi-millionaire turfman and clubman, who owns the Patchen Wilkes farm near here, has proposed to a local historical society to pay for the erection of a suitable tablet on the historic old house on West Main street where Abraham Lincoln was married to Mary Todd. Stokes proposes also raising a fund, to which he will liberally contribute, for marking other historic spots.

PRESIDENT TO MAKE AN APPEAL TO ALL PARTIES

Washington, Nov. 15.—Republicans in Congress will be consulted by President Wilson on the administration plan for national defense before the opening of the coming session.

In his will to Congress, now in the Administration Club room in New York city, the President will call to mind all efforts for legislation to strengthen the army and navy.

Officials here take the view that the President is hopeful that his plans will receive the support of Republicans and thus overcome the opposition of some Democrats, led by former Secretary Bryan.

No definite arrangements for conferences between the President and Republican leaders have been made, but the question will be taken up as soon as members of the Senate and House begin arriving in Washington. The ranking Republican members of the Senate and House Military and Naval Committees and other Republican leaders probably will be called in.

The President has already received messages from a number of Republicans outside of Congress approving his defense plans.

ECONOMY OF THRIFTY POSTMASTERS PRAISED

Washington, Nov. 13.—The economy of some thrifty postmasters in having their clerks utilize spare moments tying together, for use a second time, pieces of twine received around incoming mail has been commended by Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Blaksted. The post-office department's efforts to stimulate the conservation of twine developed that some postmasters had gone back to the practice of their parents and grandparents in having a twine ball on hand. Mr. Blaksted has issued instructions urging all postmasters to co-operate along the same line and says it will effect a material saving if carried out at every post-office.

PRISONER EXPRESSES HONEST SENTIMENTS

Stockport, Ind., Nov. 13.—The cows and chickens have little attraction for Monroe Harris, arrested here to-day on a charge of shooting craps, for when asked whether he could get any one to give bond for his appearance at trial, he said: "I don't want nobody to go mah bond. Ah wants to go to jail. Ain't I been shuckin' corn and diggin' pertaters all fall? I'm goin' to take a rest." He was taken over and added to the five others that are being held on the same charge.

COCKLEBURN KILL COW.

Munfordsville, Ky., Nov. 15.—A cow on Mrs. Ann Bowling's place east of town, became mysteriously ill and a veterinarian was summoned, but to no avail and after lingering several days the cow died. Examination after death resulted in the discovery of three gallons of cockleburs in the cow's stomach.

CHRISTMAS TIME TO BE OCCASION

FOR ENDEAVORS TO BRING ABOUT PEACE

AMONG THE WARRING NATIONS

THINK THEY WILL BE IN RECEP-TIVE MOOD—ARE NOW WILLING.

PEACE ADVOCATES ARE BUSY

Washington, Nov. 13.—David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford University and head of the International Peace Congress recently held in San Francisco, told President Wilson to-day that a quasi-official meeting of neutral nations probably will be held some time before Christmas, either at The Hague, Herne or Copenhagen, to attempt to bring about peace in Europe. Dr. Jordan conveyed to the President a resolution from the Peace Congress, urging him to co-operate with other neutrals in calling such a conference.

In a statement laid before the President by Dr. Jordan it was declared that as a result of recent missions to the Government of the warring nations, it could be stated that while the nations at war were not willing themselves to begin negotiations for peace, "there is nevertheless abundant evidence that those charged with the administration of the foreign policies of these nations would welcome, or at least not oppose, affirmative action by a neutral agency to bring about a peace based on International Justice."

Dr. Jordan said that, while no official information was available, peace advocates had learned from unofficial sources in Holland, Sweden,

Switzerland, Denmark and Spain that those countries would be glad to take part in any movement to further the cause of peace. Dr. Jordan was accompanied by Louis P. Lochner, secretary of the Chicago

Peace Society, and who acted as secretary to Miss Jane Addams, of Chiicago, when she visited Europe as a representative of the Women's Peace

Congress, and much of the information communicated to the President to-day was gathered by Miss Addams and her companions.

Dr. Jordan took the position that it would be more natural for the European neutrals to invite the United States to participate in the peace conference than for the United States to issue the invitation. He said that an unofficial meeting of peace advocates at Berno December

14, at which plans for bringing about peace will be discussed, would be attended by people from the United States.

The idea of the quasi-official peace conference suggested to President Wilson on behalf of the International Peace Congress by Dr. Jordan was that it would constitute a voluntary court of conditions zeeuation, would invite suggestions for settlement from each of the warring nations, and in any case would submit simultaneously to all of them reasonable proposals as a basis for peace.

Dr. Jordan did not reveal what

President Wilson said to him, but the President several times has taken the position that he will be glad to do anything of a practical nature to end the war. Dr. Jordan said the details of the plan proposed by the Peace Congress could easily be changed to meet conditions. He refused to predict whether the peace efforts would be successful in the near future.

Dr. Jordan told the President peace advocates constantly work in touch with people in the warring countries, and that there were organizations actively at work in all parts of the civilized world bringing pressure to bear to end the war. Ultimately, he said, those efforts were to be successful.

MAYOR HICKMAN
BEGINS CAMPAIGN

On Vice in the City Of Owensboro.

ENGAGES CHICAGO DETECTIVES
To Procure Indictments Of Alleged Gamblers and Other Lawbreakers.

WITNESS IN OWENSBORO TO DAYS

The Owensboro Messenger says: Six indictments Wednesday in relation to gambling, with a long string of other indictments, to follow. If the expectations of Mayor Hickman materialize, will be the result of a step taken by the mayor recently to clean up vice in Owensboro.

For the last ten days two of the cleverest operators of the American Detective agency, of Chicago, have been "looking things over" in Owensboro. Their "findings" were presented to the grand jury Wednesday. The grand jury report will reveal the story in circuit court during the next three days.

Since Mayor Hickman was inducted into the mayor's office two years ago he has received persistent demands to suppress gambling, violations of the liquor laws, immoral houses and other vicious practices that were known to be running openly in the city. The police department had been called upon and had visited places of gambling, and notwithstanding almost direct and overwhelming testimony, prosecutions in police court resulted in accomplishing nothing.

Local plain clothes men were asked by the mayor, but the law violators were wary and suspicious of people who were not strangers or regular habitues of their places. The local men couldn't get the evidence. Almost at his wits' end to put an end to the lawlessness, which seemed to be growing bolder, the mayor finally went to the Chicago detective agency for help. Not another living man in Owensboro knew of the mayor's plans. He secured the service of two young men who knew their business well and they got results.

Gambling houses in abundance were found to exist in the city. Evidence of a positive nature was obtained as to who was operating them and getting the takeout, as well as of those who were frequent visitors to the places. A suit case full of bottles of liquor obtained from blind tigers, immoral resorts and soft drink stands with the date of purchase, from whom bought and who was present at the time, has been turned over to the authorities as evidence.

Gambling in saloons was unearthened; gambling on pool, particularly Kelly pool, permitted in pool rooms; operation of slot machines for money and the operation of humoral houses were found by detectives. Blind tigers were found and the sale of liquors on Sunday by regular saloons was discovered. Virtually every character of law violation was found to be going on.

Evidence of a conclusive nature was compiled by the Chicago men, whose names were Frank Perner and George Haddick, in a business-like manner, and turned over to the grand jury. When the trials of those indicted are brought up in circuit court the detectives will return to Owensboro to give their evidence for the Commonwealth.

"That is snow, madam," replied the captain.

"Well," remarked the lady, "I thought as myself, but a gentleman just now told me it was Greece."

Entered at the Hartford post-office as mail matter of the second class.

This has been a wonderful crop season in more ways than one. The newspapers are full of accounts of abnormal growths in the vegetable and fruit kingdoms, while the plenitude of almost all crops has been astonishing. For all these things we should be thankful and show our gratitude by conserving the yield in an effective way. A lean year may follow this one and we should be prepared for it if it comes.

What has become of the split-log drag for roads in Ohio county? We hope its use has not been lessened or abandoned. Now is the prime time of year to use it—just after a rain. It is the cheapest and best invention ever employed on country roads. Almost anybody can make and use one. It pays a hundred fold for the time and labor expended in its use. It is a very valuable adjunct to the good roads propaganda and should never be allowed to lie idle when needed.

That was a praiseworthy and manly thing for Mr. Morrow to do when he came out in a card acknowledging his defeat and declining to enter into a contest before the legislature, which would have thrown the political factions of the State into turmoil. His attitude in the matter has won him a large measure of admiration, without regard to party ties. He leaves the field with the high respect of all. And he still stands as the Republican party's ablest exponent in the South.

The Louisville Post calls attention to two incidents that constitute a seeming mockery which recently transpired in the Criminal Court at Louisville. One man killed a rabbit without a hunting license and was fined $50 which he must pay in the workhouse. Another man fired a bullet through a third party, for which he paid a fine of $100, being able to escape the workhouse sentence. There can be no doubt that the game laws of Kentucky are oppressive beyond reason. They should be amended so as to protect the game and also come within the radius of common sense.

The recent election demonstrated one thing conclusively and that is, the independent voter is becoming more numerous each year. Many men are declining to longer be bound by party bonds. They are learning to "scratch" with decision and effect. They may prefer to vote for a majority of their party's nominees, but they reserve the right to cross over and vote for a man or two on some other ticket. Hereafter they must be taken into consideration very much in political calculations. Voting is a constitutional right and no one can deny the freedom attached to it.

Mr. Ed Morrow, of Somerset, is now among those "who also ran," but he gave us Democrats the scare of our lives and came very near topping the plum. He came nearer being elected Governor (within 366 of it) than any man who ever ran for the place and failed to get elected. Mr. Stanley, in his speech here, paid Mr. Morrow the compliment of being the ablest man of his party in the South, and this can hardly be gainsaid. It was realized from the start that the Democrats had a big job on hand to beat him and the result proves this was true. But it was done and now let's get ready for Thanksgiving.

Former Secretary W. J. Bryan is persistent in his attacks upon President Wilson because of the latter's attitude on the matter of national defense. Mr. Wilson believes in being prepared for war; Mr. Bryan is in the attitude of contending for peace at any price. In this matter it is well to remember the oft-quoted expression that it is "a condition and not a theory that confronts us." Nobody doubts that Mr. Bryan is conscientious in what he contends for, being very able in presentation of same. But we must either increase and improve our national defense or abolish them altogether, so far as usefulness is concerned. Which is best?

THE RILEY-PORTER CONTEST.

The Hartford Republican comes forth with a very lame excuse or apology for Mr. Riley's contest of Mr. Porter's election for Circuit Court Clerk. The main basis it rests this contest on is the allegation that "For the past twenty years the Democrats have contested almost every election in Ohio county where the result has been close." This is a poor excuse and a wild distortion of the facts. Democrats have contested in a bare few instances in that length of time and they had well established grounds to proceed upon.

For many years past the Hartford Republican has contended that political contests were wrong, both in principle and practice. It has always maintained that where a fair and square count of the ballots was had, the result should be allowed to stand. Nobody can say that this was not the case in the recent action and duties of the county election commissioners. They were painstaking and deliberate. On the face of the returns Mr. Porter was elected by a majority of 28, but after passing on doubtful ballots and giving Mr. Riley all that was due him, this majority was finally cut down and certified to as 22, and so printed in the Hartford Republican's "Official Vote of Ohio County, November 2, 1915."

During the whole of Mr. Porter's canvass he said repeatedly that if Mr. Riley beat him by one vote, the office should be his (Riley's) without any contest or quibbling. Mr. Porter made a straight and clean race. Nobody can gainsay this assertion. He used neither money or whiskey to influence voters. He fought a clean fight in every respect.

He came out of the election with a clear majority of 22, while his opponent ran nearly 700 behind the head man on his party's ticket.

We would not deny Mr. Riley a single vote that is due him. All that we or any Democrat contend for is that the whole election matter be settled with all fairness and justice to every candidate who ran. We think this has been done by the returns of the election board, composed of two Republicans and one Democrat.

Mr. Riley will hardly get anything out of his contest case except defeat and disappointment, of which we think he has already had a plenty. Mr. Porter is a poor boy but with a world of friends, both Republican and Democratic, and he deserves and ought to have the office for which he so nobly fought and honestly won.

Ben Johnson Will Redeem It.

The recent election seems to have clearly established the fact that the Fourth Congressional district, which went Republican, as it did in 1907, when Haiger was the nominee for Governor, subordinates everything to the "dry" sentiment. The Fourth district was influenced in 1907 by the telegrams from the Anti-Saloon League that the "liquor interests" were behind the Democratic ticket, and last week the same influences appear to have got in their work despite the fact that both Stanley and Morrow were running on the same platform with reference to the liquor issue. Although the Fourth district landed in the Republican column by nearly 500 majority last week, Congressman Ben Johnson is expected to have little trouble in re-deeming it to Democracy by a good majority next year, as he always appears able to reconcile the discordant elements. Last year he won Congress by nearly 7,000 majority when the "wet" and "dry" issue was as keen as now.—[Louisville Times.]

AN IMMENSE CONTRACT FOR ALCOHOL OFFERED

Kentucky distillers and any one in a position to produce alcohol are to have an opportunity to bid on the biggest contract that has ever been proposed.

The alcohol is sought by the allied governments for use in making ammunition.

The quantity wanted is 20,000 tank cars.

This is 300,000,000 proof gallons, and the quantity is better appreciated when it is realized that this is ten times the annual production of Kentucky.

The distillers of the State are considering the proposal and are looking into the matter from all sides to determine just how profitable the contracts will be and if it will be advisable to stop making whiskey for a time to take on this new line.

Heavrin, the leading attorney for Robert Miller, made many friends while here. His speech will rank as the best effort ever made in a Custer county trial."

Montgomery, W. Va., Nov. 13. A guard from the penitentiary will come here Monday to take Necessa Neeley to the State Penitentiary in M. Impersonation in the murder of Ruby Jesse, his beautiful stepdaughter, whose rejection of his love caused him to shoot her down in the presence of her mother, his wife, and of other wives.

The most dramatic moment of the trial was that when Mrs. Neeley, at the bar of the Court, begged that the death penalty be inflicted upon her husband. Like Necessa she had pursued every avenue for revenge although the mother of two children by the defendant. The murder of her elder daughter seemed to have driven from her mind every thought of revenge.

The defendant's attorney sought an agreement whereby Neeley could plead guilty and take an eighteen year sentence, but Neeley, who had employed special counsel in the case would not hear to it, and it took two hours of argument with the distracted woman by her own and the State's counsel before she finally agreed to a plea of guilty and a sentence of life imprisonment.

Neeley, who comes from one of the first families of this section married the widow of John Jesse and her daughter Ruby, a remarkably beautiful child 19 years old at the time of her father's death. The time of her father's death, came to live with them. Neeley fell in love with the child, who repulsed his advances.

BANQUET FOR JUDGES
BIRKHEAD AND SLACK

The Owensboro Messenger says:

A banquet to retiring Circuit Judge T. F. Birkhead and incoming Judge R. W. Slack will be tendered by the Owensboro Bar Association on the evening of the first day of the December term of Circuit Court. Court will convene for the last term at which Judge Birkhead will preside on Monday, December 6. The term expires in the last week of the year. On the first Monday in January, 1916, which follows immediately the civil term closing on the Saturday previous, Judge Slack will be induced into the office.

The banquet to the two Judges will be the first of a regular series of dinings that will be participated in by the members of the bar. A member of the committee appointed recently by President Little stated Thursday that in the future the bar association would mean something to its members. Preceding each term of Circuit Court in the future, a banquet will be spread for the members. At these occasions of good will and sociability, the members will pledge themselves to go at one another as strong as possible during the term of court to follow but as soon as the day's work is over, there will be no more of it.

The proposition is unique in many ways, it was said, but is expected to bring the members of the bar closer together.

A Good Rejoinder.

It would do the Democratic claimant no harm to go to church to-day and give particular attention to that part of the service wherein is recited the Divine warning: "Thou shalt not steal."—[Louisville Herald.]

And let us point our dear "Republican aspirants" to that passage of the Scriptures which reads: "Thou shalt not commit murder."—[Glasgow Times.]

"WAR TO FINISH," SAYS
FRANCE WAR MINISTER

Paris, Nov. 13.—Aristide Briand, Chief of the new War Ministry of France, received the American newspaper correspondents in a body today, inviting them to ask questions or make requests relative to their work. The reception was held by the Premier more for personal reasons than with the intention of granting an interview.

"I have made a declaration for my colleagues and myself to Parliament," said M. Briand, "and it would be banal to repeat it to you."

Then came a bombardment of questions on a wide range of subjects relating to the war to which the head of the Government made unhesitating replies. Asked regarding peace suggestions he said:

"What are these peace suggestions? They are heard first in one country and then another, impersonal and imponderable. They irritate at the present stage of the war. I do not wish to consider them even to the extent of a public denial and rejection. We can think of nothing

We have warm Headwear, heavy Footwear, Winter Suits for Ladies, Men and Boys. Warm Cloaks for the Ladies and Children. Warm Overcoats for Men and Boys, Gloves, warm Over Shirts, warm Hosiery and Sweaters, Rain Coats and Rubber Overshoes to keep you dry.

We will be right on the job all the winter looking after your winter necessities, but you must bear in mind the European war has caused a very severe shortage in dye stuff. Raw materials of every sort are costing more money. Clothing and suit manufacturers can't get piece goods to make up into suits. Anticipating these conditions we bought very heavy along these lines early. But business has been much larger than we anticipated, and those who wait longest may have to pay a little more. It will pay you to look after the bulk of your winter necessities as early as possible.

but drive forward to complete success by arms."

Speaking with much feeling the Premier added: "Even to mention peace by compromise or concession is to be untrue to those who are giving their lives at the front."

At another time when America was mentioned M. Briand declared: "The war has brought Americans much closer to us even than they were before. Frenchmen appreciate deeply the sympathy and good will of your countrymen. That perhaps is because every feeling is more intense now than in time of peace."

Logan County Did Her Part.

Another McHenry county in the August primary that did its part for Stanley in the regular election was Logan, the home of Tom, Ah and John Rhea. Logan county had factions in the party for years, but in this election they got together behind the whole Democratic ticket. Judge John S. Rhea was re-elected Circuit Judge of the Logan-Todd-Simpson-Muhlenberg district, and will preside on the bench for the next six years.

Hog Turkey Market.

Carlisle, Ky., Nov. 15.—The sales of turkeys on the local market for slaughter and shipment to the eastern market for Thanksgiving will be closed up this week. During the season thousands of turkeys have been slaughtered here, bringing 16 cents delivered on foot. Doves with over 1,000 turkeys each were received. It is said dressed turkeys will be worth about thirty cents per pound for Thanksgiving here this year.

Record Gas Flow.

Whiteburg, Ky., Nov. 15.—A record flow of natural gas in Kentucky, according to experienced operators, was struck a few days ago on the farm of J. P. Akers, near Lackey on Left Beaver creek, near the Knott-Floyd border, which is the center of the vast oil and gas fields of Beaver creek, said to be the richest territory in the State. It is said that Mr. Akers will share with an operating company whose representatives have already been on the ground in the development of the rich flow. His farm consists of several hundred acres, a large part of which is productive bottom land.

FOODSTUFF GOES UNDER GOVERNMENT CONTROL.

Berlin, Nov. 15.—Virtually the entire food supply of Germany is expected soon to pass under governmental control to insure an equitable distribution of supplies at fair prices among the entire population, rich and poor. Coffee, tea and cocoa were added to-day to the list of products whose sale will be regulated by the State. The Federal Council authorized the Chancellor to issue regulations covering trade in them.

The Chancellor also was authorized to establish maximum prices for buckwheat and millet, marmalades and honey, vegetables, fruits and sauerkraut. These prices apply to producers. Local authorities in municipalities of more than 10,000 population are required to fix maximum prices for retailers in these supplies.

The authorities in smaller places are empowered to take similar action if they see fit. The Chancellor is given authority to set a high limit above which prices may not go.

Bread, potatoes, pork, milk and butter already have been subjected to maximum price schedules. The consumption of other meats is regulated and limited by so-called "meatless days." Maximum prices for all varieties of meats and fish are believed to be in sight.

For Sale.

My farm on the Hartford and Sulphur Springs road, quarter of a mile northeast of the oil well. This farm is not leased. Contains 82 acres—45 acres in cultivation, the remainder in woods—4 room house and outbuildings. Plenty of good soft water and a good orchard. Also a good team of horses for sale.

S. S. SUPERINTENDENTS' MEETING WAS A SUCCESS

The meeting for Sunday School Superintendents held in Hartford last Friday was something new for this county. While the attendance was not up to expectation, the interest in, and value of such a gathering was at a high mark. The credit was entirely due to President J. D. Haugh, of the Ohio County S. S. Association, and shows that he is the man for the place.

After devotional exercises led by Rev. W. C. Fuqua, the meeting went to work upon a series of questions prepared for discussion by the president, touching upon almost every phase of the superintendents' work. These were heartily and thoroughly discussed by all present during practically all of the morning and afternoon sessions, which were held in the Baptist church.

A splendid lunch was served in the basement of the Methodist church. Altogether it was a profitable day and it was unanimously agreed to have another similar meeting in Hartford next April.

PRESIDENT REINSTATES AN OUSTED OFFICIAL

Washington, Nov. 15.—President Wilson today directed the reinstatement of George Burkitt, the assistant postmaster at Winnetka, Ill., who was dismissed after he had criticized the President's engagement to be married. It was said at the White House that the man would be restored to office regardless of various other charges filed against him.

Dismissal of Burkitt was ordered recently by Assistant Postmaster General Roper on the recommendation of Postmaster Kloepfer, at Winnetka, and the order actually had taken effect, although all the legal formalities had not been completed and only to-day the papers in the case had been turned over to an inspector for further investigation.

Mr. Roper said to-night that the White House order had not reached him. Earlier, the department had issued a statement saying that the remarks made by Burkitt about the President's engagement constituted only an incident which alone would not have been sufficient ground for his removal, but that "th's was one in a series of admitted offenses which had been accumulating for several months against the record of this employee."

The President acted as soon as the case was brought to his attention. At first it was announced that Burkitt's reinstatement was ordered "if no other charges were found against him," but to-night officials stated that the order was unqualified.

Note—Burkitt had simply made the remark that he thought the President was going to marry too soon after his wife's death.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING WAS A PROFITABLE ONE

In behalf of the Sunday School Superintendents' meeting which was held in Hartford on Nov. 12th, we hereby extend to the kind ladies of all the churches in town our sincere thanks for their delicious pies and also to the ones who were so thoughtful as to come to the church and help serve the pies at dinner time, do we extend our appreciation. May you all live long and useful lives.

We can't refrain from also thanking the superintendents, pastors and Sunday School workers who attended and helped to make this meeting profitable. We trust you will come again next April when we have the next meeting, for if possible something will be on the program that will interest and profit you.

To the superintendents who were not there, we can only say that we were very sorry, for the meeting was profitable from beginning to end, as about 55 questions, bearing directly on the Sunday School, were all answered.

Of course the Sunday School meeting is very grateful for the services rendered by both papers. How could we get along without them?

The man who whispers down a well about the goods he has to sell, won't reap the gleaming golden dollars.

Like one who climbs a tree and "hollers."

The above is common sense and strong proof that we can profit very much by advertising. If you want to advertise, use the newspapers. They are the source of the most economical and successful advertising.

J. D. BAUGH,
County President.

MRS. GALT IS A WEALTHY WOMAN

In a Modernly Moderate Estimation.

HAS A FORTUNE OF $300,000

Martha Washington Said To Be the Wealthiest President's Wife.

WOMEN OF THE WHITE HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—Mrs. Norman Galt will be one of the wealthiest of the White House brides. Very few of the mistresses of the White House from the foundation of the republic until the present, have been heiresses and while Mrs. Galt's fortune, estimated at about $300,000, is not large as fortunes are reckoned in the East, it is a larger nest egg than most of the "first ladies" have possessed at the time of their marriages to Presidents.

Martha Washington, the wife of the first President, was an exception. She was very rich. George Washington, marrying a great heiress, set a precedent which few of his successors have followed. The pretty, bright-eyed Virginia widow, Mrs. Galt, whose lands, slaves, dollars and mansions were inherited from her father's estate, was the greatest "catch" of her day and young Washington was greatly envied when he persuaded her to say "Yes." This marriage enabled him to hold his own among the plutocrats of his time and to be free from any financial worries.

The President, who next to George Washington, married most advantageously from the financial point of view, was William McKinley. When he married the favorite daughter of the rich banker James A. Saxton, he had barely entered upon the practice of law and was possessed of no capital except intelligence, energy and character. Yet such was the respect he had attained in the community that Miss Saxton's neighbors all thought she was doing well and no one referred to young McKinley as a fortune hunter. To him a gift more valuable than money was her father's statement:

"You are the only man I have ever known to whom I would give my daughter."

Another heiress was Julia Gardiner, the pretty New York girl who became the second wife of President James Tyler, who was more than 30 years her senior.

Several of the Presidents in the days of their youth and poverty wedded girls no better off than they were, who not only shared with courage their husbands' small beginning but assisted them to rise. Among the self-made Presidents who also were to a considerable extent wife-made men, were John Adams, Andrew Jackson, Zachary Taylor, Millard Fillmore and Andrew Johnson. However, most of the Presidents had attained to a position of modest comfort before marrying women who were real helpmates and shared their satisfaction in seeing circumstances improve as the years passed. Such was the late Mrs. Wilson, who like her husband, was the child of a minister. Mrs. Taft and Mrs. Roosevelt were women of this type and so were the wives of Harrison, Garfield, Hayes, Grant, Pierce and Polk.

Miss Frances Folsom, although of a family classed as comfortably well off, was not an heiress when she became the wife of President Cleveland, her guardian and her father's law partner. She stepped from the school room into the most difficult position in American social life and, in spite of her youth, ill health so ably that she won universal admiration and esteem.

Although a few of the wives of the Presidents have been heiresses quite a number of their daughters-in-law, daughters and nieces have had that advantage. Miss Alice Roosevelt inherited several large legacies from the family of her mother, who was Miss Lee, of Boston. She was given an allowance for dress by her grandmother, Mrs. Lee, which was far greater than that at the disposal of the average married woman in society. Miss Harriet Lane, the niece of the bachelor, James Buchanan, was heiress to a fortune which, for those times, was very great, when she acted as mistress of the White House. Miss Lane spent a large part of her private fortune in keeping up the hospitalities of the White House. In 1860 Miss Lane was hostess to the Prince of Wales, who later became King Edward VII. Later in the same year she was hostess of the first Japanese embassy to the United States. Her position was more onerous than any other "first lady" since Martha Washington.

FRANCE HURRY MAKING MUNITIONS OF WAR

Paris, Nov. 12.—"Every branch of the munitions service has been extended to a formidable extent," said Minister of Munitions Thomas in an interview granted a Paris newspaper. "With one or two exceptions the demands of the commander-in-chief for all kinds of shells now are more than covered. The estimates of Gen. Joffre, who is especially anxious about shells for the 155-millimeter guns, have been exactly met, while his estimates for the 105 and 120-millimeter guns have been exceeded. The number of shells demanded for the '75's varies daily, but on the whole they are being virtually covered."

One would be greatly surprised, M. Thomas said, if the production to-day was compared with that of September, 1914. The same is true in regard to the output of rifles, machine guns and explosives.

"But however intense the recent efforts," the Minister of Munitions added, "they are as nothing to what will be necessary. More and still more will be wanted. The success of the Champagne offensive was due to our increased production, but for a complete and speedy victory the whole effort of the nation will be required."

$385,000 REQUIRED TO BID CITY OF MOSQUITOES

New York, Nov. 12.—It would cost New York City $385,000 to kill off the mosquitoes within her boundaries, according to an estimate of the State Board of Health, submitted at a public hearing to-day of the Public Health Council which is considering methods of freeing the city of the pests. This estimate was based on the drainage of all swamps lands in the metropolitan area, of which there are 48,500 acres.

Dr. C. H. Davenport, of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, which has made tests on Long Island testified that the ordinary water mosquito had an effective cruising radius of fifteen miles.

A Pine Whooping Cough Remedy.

Mothers, Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey is just the remedy for your children's cold ailments. The fact is that pine is a quick enemy of cold conditions. Its qualities loosen the mucus in the throat, soothe the lungs and open up the air passages.

The combination of honey, soothing and pleasant, with the loosening pine quality makes this an ideal cough remedy for children. Each passing year brings for it new friends. A family of growing children cannot afford to be without it.

CONSCIENCE STRICKEN WIFE SHOOTS HERSELF

Shamokin, Penn., Nov. 12.—Josiah Simpson, automobile dealer, came home from a trip unexpectedly late last night and caught his wife entertaining Joseph Schmicker, son of a hotel owner and prominent in local society. While the husband and the alleged despoiler of his home were grappling in a bitter struggle, Mrs. Simpson seized Schmicker's revolver and shot herself. She died early this morning.

A Coroner's jury rendered a verdict of suicide and no arrests were made. According to the husband's account, he took a car to Philadelphia yesterday, expecting to be gone until to-night, but changed his mind and returned shortly after midnight.

He saw a light in the house, and, looking through a keyhole, said he saw his wife with Schmicker. He burst open the door.

Distress in the Stomach.

There are many people who have a distress in the stomach after eating. It is due to indigestion and easily remedied by taking one of Chamberlain's Tablets after meals.

Mr. Henry Padgham, Victor, N. Y., writes: "For some time I was troubled with headache and distress in my stomach after eating, also with constipation. About six months ago I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets. They regulated the action of my bowels and the headache and other annoyances ceased in a short time." Obtainable everywhere.

Then, in the afternoon, he wired again.

"No money. How shall I act?"

This time he had not to wait long. Within a couple of hours he received an orange envelope. Happily tearing it open, he read:

"Act as if you were broke."

DISEASE OUTSTRIPSBULLETS IN THE NAVY

Although There Have Been Great Reductions in Common Affections.

Washington, Nov. 12.—In his annual report to the Secretary of the Navy, Surgeon General Brasted declares that diseases kill more men than bullets in the navy.

The packing of 1,000 men into space in which theoretically not more than 300 should be required to live is given as the primary reason for the prevalence of disease on battleships of the navy.

According to Surgeon General Brasted, despite the military and naval activities of both sailors and marines at Vera Cruz, they found the rigors of warfare less dangerous than living conditions on Uncle Sam's big fighting machines.

During the fiscal year ending June 30 there were thirty-eight deaths in the navy from tuberculosis and thirty-three due to pneumonia. Three officers were among those who died. Gunshot wounds were responsible for thirty deaths.

The faults pointed out by Surgeon General Brasted include overcrowding, extreme reductions of the amount of air space per person, improper proportion of moisture, the inappropriate placing of air inlets and exits, over or under heating of the air. The Surgeon General concedes that these faults are incident to conditions laid down by "military necessity."

Because of the "necessity for fighting and cruising efficiency," Surgeon General Brasted is unable to report that great improvement in living conditions on battleships may be expected in the near future.

The report points to the great reduction in such diseases as typhoid fever, diphtheria, measles and mumps in recent years. Three years ago there were 222 cases of typhoid on the records, while during the last fiscal year there were only 13 cases.

How To Prevent Croup.

It may be a surprise to you to learn that in many cases croup can be prevented. Mrs. H. M. Johns, Elgin, Ohio, relates her experience as follows: "My little boy is subject to croup. During the past winter I kept a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, and when he began having that cough I would give him one or two doses of it, and it would break the attack. I find it better for children than any other cough medicine because children take it willingly, and it is safe and reliable." Obtainable everywhere.

CONSCIENCE STRICKEN WIFE SHOOTS HERSELF

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 12.—Josiah Simpson, automobile dealer, came home from a trip unexpectedly late last night and caught his wife entertaining Joseph Schmicker, son of a hotel owner and prominent in local society. While the husband and the alleged despoiler of his home were grappling in a bitter struggle, Mrs. Simpson seized Schmicker's revolver and shot herself. She died early this morning.

A Coroner's jury rendered a verdict of suicide and no arrests were made. According to the husband's account, he took a car to Philadelphia yesterday, expecting to be gone until to-night, but changed his mind and returned shortly after midnight.

He saw a light in the house, and, looking through a keyhole, said he saw his wife with Schmicker. He burst open the door.

Distress in the Stomach.

There are many people who have a distress in the stomach after eating. It is due to indigestion and easily remedied by taking one of Chamberlain's Tablets after meals.

Mr. Henry Padgham, Victor, N. Y., writes: "For some time I was troubled with headache and distress in my stomach after eating, also with constipation. About six months ago I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets. They regulated the action of my bowels and the headache and other annoyances ceased in a short time." Obtainable everywhere.

Paris Green in Apples.

The Rev. C. C. Baumgartel, advanced man, and Mr. H. A. Schell, tabernacle custodian and book purveyor of the Main-Ramsey revival, found a nice sack of luscious looking apples in the tabernacle yesterday. They took the apples to their room and started to eat them when they found a large quantity of Paris green had been pressed into the apples near the core. Rev. Baumgartel said there was enough Paris green in the apples to kill a mule. No one has been able to explain why the poisoned apples were left in the tabernacle. People should be careful not to eat apples found this way until examining them with scrutiny.
